A&E Systems Merges Deltek Practice with Central Consulting Group

Merger builds on CCG's leadership as a Deltek partner

Minneapolis, MN—October 26, 2011—Central Consulting Group announced today that A&E Systems (AES) is merging their Deltek practice with Central Consulting Group (CCG). The merger will strengthen and expand the services for both AES and CCG clients.

AES is a full-service management consulting, software implementation and training company serving clients in the Western U. S. and Canada. With this merger, CCG and AES will combine the Deltek consulting services and staff under the CCG name to serve clients with a full suite of consulting and development services.

"We are delighted to welcome AE Systems and its Deltek clients to Central Consulting Group," said Jim Falkanger, Managing Partner of CCG. "Carolyn Davis, President of A&E Systems, and her team have been assisting professional services firms with project based accounting systems including Deltek Vision and FMS (Wind2) since 1987. CCG is honored to continue this tradition."

"AES and CCG have successfully partnered on projects for clients over the past year," said Carolyn E. Davis, President A&E Systems. "CCG has the largest and most experienced consulting and technical staff of any Deltek business partner and I am confident that our clients will benefit from this merger."
